“

This year we are excited to have Louis-Dreyfus Company (LDC) participate and present a ZEMA case study at ETOT”

Ian Gordon, Director of Business Development, EMEA

ZEMA automatically captures and centralizes large volumes of real-time market data; with over 900 data vendor partners, it contains the most comprehensive collection of ISO information in the industry. It possesses a rich library of analytic formulas, customizable visualization options, and unmatched strengths in curve development and integration. These aspects make the platform particularly attractive for users interested in simplifying end-of-day processes.

Ian Gordon said, “This year we are excited to have Louis-Dreyfus Company (LDC) participate and present an Enterprise Management Solutions for Back Office and Beyond case study at ETOT,” said Gordon. “We are also looking forward to participating and sponsoring high-profiled event. The panel discussions, other case study presentations, and networking opportunities available there are important tools for staying current in this ever-evolving industry.”
