"It is a very exciting time for us at Holiday Swap," states Asquith. "We feel like we are really disrupting travel and making it cheaper and easier for all of us. I was asked by numerous people about how they could travel more as hotel prices and home stays are continuing to go up in cost.

At Holiday Swap, we wanted to build a sharing platform that saves people money. Since our inception, we have grown to offer accommodations at over 10,000 properties in 184 countries and are inspired to hear the ways in which we are making travel more affordable and accessible for people all around the world. There is no download or registration fee and our users are able to swap their accommodation, whether this be a room, an apartment or entire villa for just $1 per night!"

Holiday Swap will continue to offer additional contests, and James encourages users to check out their Instagram page @holswap for flight and other giveaways in November, including some really exciting trips from Ugandan Gorilla safaris, to Sri Lankan surf trips and Northern Lights cruises. Check out the Holiday Swap app and enter the code 'FreeSwap' to receive your first swap free of charge.
