

HELIOS Aero Services Announced as Latest Sponsors of Military Flight Training 2018

Smi Reports: With less than 1 week until the 7th Annual Military Flight Training Conference, HELIOS aero services have signed up as the latest event sponsors.

LONDON, WATERLOO, UNITED KINGDOM, October 4, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- There's less than 1 week left until SMi's 7th Annual Military Flight Training Conference kicks off on the 10th and 11th October in London, UK (<http://www.militaryflight-training.com/einpr>)

In the run up to the event, SMi is delighted to welcome HELIOS aero services as the latest sponsors of the conference, who will also be speaking and presenting, as well as Andy Fawkes, Director at Think Company Ltd, who will be presenting and sharing his expertise and knowledge.

HELIOS aero services B.V. provide operational support, flight training and experimental flight test services for civilian and governmental customers. They're positioned as a one-stop shop with a product portfolio of services that cover the complete support operations for ATO/AOC certification on all levels of flight support.

Helios is close to completing a new mission training method for helicopter pilots called ACE (Adaptive Cockpit Environment), which is based on a low-cost actual helicopter to provide mission training for high end/complex helicopter types under actual flight conditions by using augmented reality and a unique in-flight helicopter simulation system.

Helios will be exhibiting their latest technology at the two-day conference and delegates will have the chance to learn about the most up-to-date technological advances in Military Flight Training, as well as network with the industry leaders.

Conference attendees will also have the privilege of hearing from Mr. Arie Slagter, Experimental Test Pilot & Accountable Manager at Helios Aero Services, when he presents on "ACE - A Breakthrough in Helicopter Mission Training".

Mr Slagter will be focussing on low cost host helicopters, high end/complex target helicopters, mission training under actual flight conditions, augmented reality and unique in-flight simulation systems, and cost-effective training.

The two-day conference will also feature the expertise of Andy Fawkes, Director at Think Company Ltd, who will be presenting on "Training in a more Autonomous System Future", exploring the topics of trends in artificial intelligence and big data, impact on military flight operations and training, as well as challenges and opportunities.

The year's unmissable event highlights include:

- Benefit from a leading military speaker line up and their experience pertaining to flight training programmes and systems
- Hear the military perspectives underlining the economic move towards synthetic training and advanced simulators
- Understand the need to keep military flight training and capabilities as up-to-date as possible in the face of new and evolving threats
- Integrate novel training techniques while using legacy equipment to ensure full operational capabilities

Registration for this year's conference will soon be closing and potential attendees are urged to book soon to avoid missing out as places are now limited. View the latest agenda and book your place at <http://www.militaryflight-training.com/einpr>
