

Center for Cyber Safety and Education Names Engility Partner of the Year for Serving Veterans and Cybersecurity

The Center chose Engility for its commitment to creating career opportunities for veterans in the high-demand field of cybersecurity

(ISC)2® SECURITY CONGRESS, NEW ORLEANS, LA, USA, October 9, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ --

We're humbled by this selection and the opportunity to serve our veterans as they seek to expand their cyber qualifications.”

Chairman, President and CEO*

The Center for Cyber Safety and Education announced it has selected Engility Holdings, Inc. (NYSE: EGL) as its 2018 Partner of the Year. The Center chose Engility for its commitment to creating career opportunities for veterans in the high-demand field of cybersecurity. Last fall, the Center and Engility partnered to introduce CyberWarrior® Scholarships to provide military veterans wanting to transition into a post-military cybersecurity career.

Patrick Craven, Center director, said, “Engility's commitment to the cybersecurity workforce while serving veterans is both admirable and inspiring. By thinking outside themselves, the Engility team has created a legacy that will benefit those who have so much to offer and our nation as a whole.”

Engility and the Center recently announced the first Scholarship winners. The Scholarships include everything recipients need to prepare to become certified for a career in cybersecurity, including certification training classes, textbooks, materials and exam vouchers for the \(ISC\)2 certification of their choice. At the end of the training, winners will have enhanced opportunities to secure jobs with highly technical cyber skill sets, such as security analyst, security engineer, security auditor and security architect.

The Center will honor Engility at an awards ceremony during the 2018 (ISC)2 Security Congress.
