SMI Reports: Airbus will be sponsoring and speaking at this year's Airborne ISR conference, taking place on the 24th and 25th October 2018 in London, UK.

LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, October 11, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The 4th Annual Airborne ISR event will be taking place in London on on the 24th and 25th October 2018. The event will bring together a global audience of senior ISTAR operators, capability developers and solution providers, to discuss the latest developments in capabilities, system integration, operational case studies and cutting-edge technology.

With highly focused, expert-led presentations exploring an array of new technologies, airframes and doctrine, Airborne ISR 2018 attendees will benefit from a diverse international line up of senior military and MoD speakers.

Attendees will also have the opportunity to hear from high-ranking expert military speakers from the Royal Air Force, who remain at the forefront of delivering airborne intelligence for UK operations. It is with great pleasure to announce that the Airborne ISR agenda includes four key speakers who will give insightful presentations and will participate in panel discussions encouraging the exchange of ideas and debates, thoroughly covering the intelligence chain.

We are delighted to announce Airbus will be sponsoring the two-day conference and also contributing by speaking on day one, Mr David Kingdom-Jones, Head of Air Connectivity, Secure Communications, Airbus will be covering a presentation on Secure Networked Airborne Communications: The Now and Future Combat Cloud and looking into:
