

Youth to Learn Freedom of Expression at Fashion Show in the Clearwater Community Volunteers Center

CLEARWATER, FLORIDA, USA, October 11, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On October 20th the Clearwater Community Volunteers Center will host the Cole Link Foundation's Golden Linkettes, a youth dance group, for their first fashion show "Every Day Princesses". The show will begin at 3:00pm and is open to the public. The Golden Linkettes program focuses on instilling self-confidence & leadership skills in the youth while also fostering community outreach. The fashion show will allow each young lady from the Linkettes to demonstrate poise and self-confidence, which is something that the program seeks to instill in the program's participants. The Cole Link Foundation has worked with the Clearwater Community Volunteers Center for 4 months in creating tea parties or rehearsing dance routines toward the improvement of the girls' artistic expression, confidence, and etiquette.

"Working with nonprofits has always been a passion of mine", said Ms. Clemence Chevrot, Director for the Clearwater Community Volunteers Center. "They are the front lines in making a positive impact in today's society. By working with those who improve the lives of others we can
