includes a brief on these trends that can help the businesses operating in the industry to understand the market and strategize for their business expansion accordingly. The research report analyzes the market size, industry share, growth, key segments, CAGR and key drivers.

The global drug of abuse testing market is projected to cross US$ 5 Billion by 2024. Drugs of abuse testing involve detection of one or more illegal and/or prescribed substances in the urine, blood, saliva, hair, or sweat. The use of illicit drugs is increasing across the globe. According to the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, nearly 5% of the global adult population consumed some sort of illicit drug at least once in 2015. The market for drug of abuse testing is driven by strict government norms against illicit drug intake, technological advances in testing equipment, increasing availability of forbidden drugs, and growing emphasis on work place screening among the urban population. On the other hand, legalization of drugs and lack of skilled technicians for drug of abuse testing are a few restraints hampering the growth of the market.

Geographically, this report is segmented into several key Regions, with production, consumption, revenue, market share and growth rate of Drug of Abuse Testing in these regions, from 2013 to 2024 (forecast), covering

- North America accounted for largest share of the global drug of abuse testing market.
- Europe holds second largest share of the global drug of abuse testing market.
- Asia Pacific drug of abuse testing market is projected to grow at the highest CAGR during the forecast period due to increasing drug addiction in the region.
- The emerging economies like China and India offer good opportunities for drug testing equipment market in Asia Pacific region.
- The drugs of abuse testing market in Middle East and Africa (MEA) is projected to display tremendous growth during the forecast period.
- In South and Central America, use of cocaine remains high, especially in South America.
