Mr. Manuel Oancia, President of IUBCCI, started the Congress with some opening remarks welcoming the guests and highlighting few key changes that IUBCCI implemented over the past year, starting with the publication of the 4th edition of the Global Ambassador's Journal, the upgrade of all the asset websites, and the acceptance of IUBCCI in the United Nations Department of Economic and Social Affairs. Then followed the remarks of Ambassador Bankov, Chairman Vladoiu and the other panelists.

“The bilateral chambers of commerce are important as non-governmental actors, but they are the official voice of the business community,” said Phd. Prof. Nasty Vladoiu, Chairman of IUBCCI. “IUBCCI brings all of them together in the idea of providing a worldwide secure business environment through commercial diplomacy,” he continued.

Awards were bestowed during the Congress to the Ambassador of Ukraine in Romania, H.E. Oleksandr Bankov, who received the IUBCCI Star, and to the presidents of bilateral chambers of commerce.
