This exciting new network seeks to foster and empower female leaders of all industries, primarily with the intention of creating a community of driven, successful individuals to guide and inspire others as well as "leverage women's leadership in the economic development of our communities."

"I'm so proud and excited for this opportunity to contribute to this amazing group of women," remarked Ariela. "Female Empowerment has long been an objective recognized by the Stay Boutique team. BLLA CEO & Founder, Frances Kiradjian, launched the Travel Industry Executive Women's Network (TIEWN) in 2008, which has since amassed more than 10,400 members globally and our team is excited for the future of women in our industry and beyond."
