

Law Offices of Arash Hashemi — a Safe Haven for Those in Trouble with the Law

Laws exist to protect us — that's a fact nobody can argue against. However, everyone might have broken a law at least a couple of times in their lives.

LOS ANGELES, CA, US, October 26, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Going through the yellow light, being late with a bank payment, double parking, neglecting to come to a complete stop, etc. — it can really happen to anyone. In most cases, people don't pay much attention to these minor violations. But what happens when someone breaks a major law? What happens when things become serious? In such cases, having a high-quality defense attorney is crucial.

Those who are being prosecuted for driving under the influence, for committing a crime, or for having been involved in sex crimes, drug crimes, or domestic violence such as child endangerment, probably won't be able to get out of those charges on their own.

Therefore, having a knowledgeable defense attorney to represent them is essential. California residents are in luck; they have Arash Hashemi — Los Angeles' domestic violence, DUI, drug, theft, and sex crimes attorney.

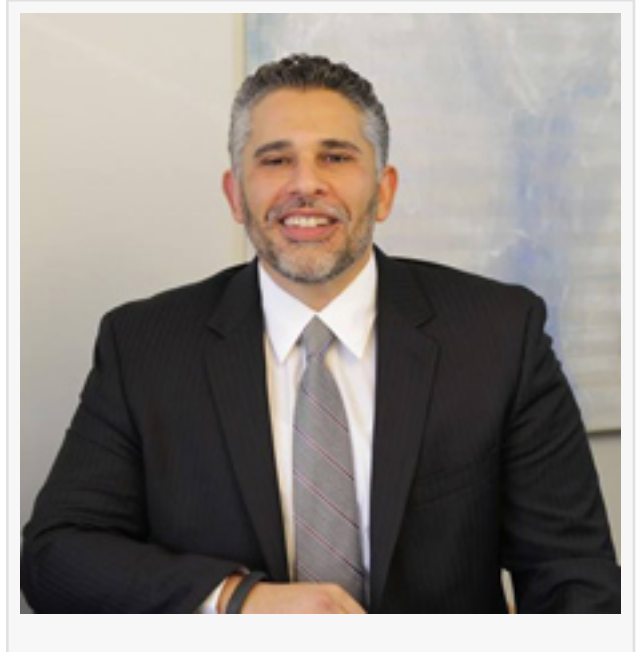

Since 2003, Arash Hashemi and his associates have been passionately defending the rights of people facing criminal prosecution in Los Angeles.

Arash Hashemi isn't a typical defense attorney; he is a professional with more than 16 years of experience to back him up. His advocacy is result-driven, his communication with the clients effective, and his representation assertive. In short, Mr. Hashemi is the man one should call for help.

When it comes to cases of domestic violence, a strong defense is a must. Such cases encounter little or no sympathy during the prosecution. Those who have been accused of assaulting a family member or someone they have an intimate relationship with could get charged with domestic violence.

If it involves children, the case might be even more difficult to handle. Child endangerment is considered a serious offense. Such charges require professional management. Luckily, Arash Hashemi and his law offices have handled countless domestic violence cases. Defendants can be sure that they will receive the very best treatment and that their defense attorneys will fight for them till their last breath.
