

DFW Business Spends Halloween Weekend Building 40 Beds for Local Children

Qualbe Marketing Group, in Haltom City, spent Halloween weekend building beds for needy children in community through the organization Sleep in Heavenly Peace.

FORT WORTH, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, November 1, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Qualbe Marketing Group, located in Haltom City, spent their Halloween weekend building beds for needy children in the community through the organization Sleep in Heavenly Peace.

"The event was great; we had a very good turnout," said Randall Meinen, Founder and CEO of Qualbe Marketing Group. "When we work together as a team, it's amazing how much we can get done."

In a collaborative effort, Qualbe raised $6,500 for the event, which paid for the lumber, mattresses and bedding. Contributors included: Careington International, Mosaic Church, Maintenance of Fort Worth, Garland Supply, Meinen Agency and Qualbe employees.

One thing I liked about this is how important it is for kids to get a good night's sleep - and we got to help with that. I am shocked so many kids don't have a bed to sleep in.”

“Everyone worked really hard and had their own spot and station - from sanding to drilling to cutting the wood...we had an assembly line going,” Meinen said.

60 volunteers came out for the event and built 40 beds in just 3 hours.

Next, Sleep in Heavenly Peace will schedule delivery days for Qualbe to assemble the beds in Fort Worth-area homes that need them. SHP gets more requests than they have beds for, so they are expanding rapidly in cities across the country to make sure no kid has to sleep on the floor.
