

Yellow Pages Goes Green® Announces Yearly Environmental Scholarships

Environmental telephone publisher announces $1,500 annual scholarships to graduating high school seniors whose career path is related to environmental science.

EAST NORTHPORT, NEW YORK, USA, November 4, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Yellow Pages Goes Green®, an environmentally friendly telephone directory is offering $1,500 College scholarships, one per year, to distinguished graduating high school seniors whose career path is slated to take them into any field related to environmental preservation and environmental sciences. The goal of this scholarship is to encourage youth to pursue careers which impact Earth.

Those applying for the scholarships must adhere to criteria listed on the official scholarship page at <https://www.yellowpagesgoesgreen.org/scholarship.php>

We ask that those who have resources to spread our scholarship information to schools and financial aid departments help by doing just that”

Michael Keegan

“The environment has sustained countless years of abuse at the hands of corporations and the only way to combat the damage is through supporting the next wave of environmental engineers, scientists, and preservationists, and that’s why we have instituted this scholarship contest which will offer yearly scholarships. We ask that those who have resources to spread our scholarship information to schools and financial aid departments help by doing just that” said Yellow Pages Goes Green® Founder and CEO Michael Keegan.
