Helping a passionate young man with a debilitating disease do something he has always wanted to do.... climb a 100 foot TREE

LOS ANGELES, CALI, UNITED STATES, November 19, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- John's Climb will help everyone reach new heights!

LOS ANGELES, November 20, 2018.

Meet John Janowicz a young man with an optimistic, kind and passionate character. John lives with Lesch-Nyhan syndrome a condition confining him to a wheelchair with restricted use of his limbs. A condition that appears to limit the opportunity to climb a tree. But thanks to a timely meeting with young arborist DJ Neustaeter and John's motivation, belief and perseverance, an opportunity was born.

With the full support of the Janowicz family, an experienced team of arborists redefined the tree climbing experience and facilitated John's Climb 100 foot into a Douglas Fir at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver. We are humbled by John and his family and are proud to have supported him in this experience. From the spark, which initiated the vision to the culmination of success, John's Climb transformed the lives of everyone involved. We at Ronin salute "Team John" and offer our support in his 100-foot climb. We encourage anyone with special needs and have the desire, motivation and perseverance to contact us for help in their pursuit of a climbing experience. We want to help anyone change his or her elevation.
