OAKLAND, CA, UNITED STATES, November 27, 2018 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Jhonesha Robinson, a young woman from Oakland, Ca launches a PRISONLIVESMATTERtoo crowdfunding campaign on iFundWomen to raise $100,000 to build a reentry program in Lathrop, Ca for incarcerated individuals and their families. Jhonesha developed the concept for the reentry program "Destiny Revealed" while struggling with the incarceration of her fiancé Alkehm.

The young woman's goal is to use the proceeds from the campaign towards office space, equipment fees, office furniture, and utility fees for Destiny Revealed. She also plans to provide grants to help with business startup fees, home ownership closing cost, food, and phone calls for incarcerated individuals and their families.

One doesn't have to go to a prison to help someone in it.-----

YOU ARE THE SOLUTION
YOU'VE BEEN LOOKING

Jhonesha Robinson

Jhonesha - "Through this PRISONLIVESMATTERtoo crowdfunding campaign on iFundWomen people will get the opportunity to support a great cause. There are so many people incarcerated but not many people are willing to help them, yet people complain about society and the violence that's created within it. Well, one does not have to be that person and can get the chance to change all of that by supporting this crowdfunding campaign and book "The System Through The Eyes Of The Broken" which will change and transform the lives of many people behind bars. In all actuality, these people are hurting or have been hurt. Which is why they wind up where they are in the first place. There is no support, so there is no peace nor hope. That is why I'm calling on the people for their support. I need the support of the people because they need the support of the people."

One doesn't have to go to a prison to help someone in it.

About: Eyes Of The Broken and Destiny Revealed was founded in 2018 by Johnesha Robinson. Her journey started with her Fiancé Alkehm's incarceration. Johnesha didn't want her family to become a victim of the criminal justice system, and believed that through their struggles and triumphs God was telling her "YOU ARE THE SOLUTION YOU'VE BEEN LOOKING FOR".

With that, she took their problem and turned it into a solution by starting her very own #PRISONLIVESMATTERtoo movement, which would later develop into a concept for Destiny Revealed; a non-profit and reentry program that focuses on mending the brokenness of the brokenhearted and creating a safe-haven (recreational space) where not only people incarcerated will receive love, help, hope, and support but their families will have the opportunity to do so right along with them as a partnership. The intent is to provide business and home ownership programs that will help incarcerated individuals and their families succeed in a world that's built to make sure they fail.

Destiny Revealed is different from any program you have come across or experienced. It's Founders Johnesha and Alkehm provide something no other program has been able to, and that is truth and love from someone who's been broken just like them.

Johnesha, Founder of Eyes Of The Broken and Destiny Revealed - "The fight for criminal justice reform starts with the people who have suffered from its brokenness. Some people believe in speaking with the President or Senator, but I believe in going straight to the source of the pain; the people. If we don't start by helping them we can never tear down the walls of an unjust system. We will only be sitting back waiting for someone who doesn't care for our progress nor our change to be in charge of whether or not we progress. It's also my belief that nobody has more power to help change our situation and the struggles we've faced or are facing but us. If you've lived and conquered or are living and still conquering you could be the hope and light someone out in this dark world needs to see their way through. For me, I am now light in the prison systems darkness. Because my heart has suffered I can end their suffering."

The team at Eyes Of The Broken and Destiny Revealed are asking for people to donate towards their goal of $100,000 on iFundWomen, or re-post this message to their social media account so Destiny Revealed can be more than a concept.
