

Konstant Ranked #6 Among Best React Native Development Companies 2018

Breaking into the top 15, Konstant is not limited to improving just what top React Native Development Companies have to offer!

PALO ALTO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, November 27, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Decoding the "de facto" of best react native development companies globally, Konstant has yet again established strategic primacy in its backyard. It has for long yearned to offer the best by putting its learning to constructive use (projects done in past and current). Streamlining its efforts and yet pursuing its priorities simultaneously, Konstant has cleared barricades by proving that tall tales shall always triumph.

If someone asks, "Can you tell me in simple words about this victory?" Here it goes:

Having spent more than 1 year in React Native development, two major projects Foodgroup and Kaman are to be deployed by end of 2018.

The reason to select react native for our potential projects lies somewhere in the list below:

- React Native promises to create applications for different platforms simultaneously
- It enhances native UI Experience
- No compilation is required with Hot Reloading
- React Native has Virtual Browser Dom for UI
- It makes use of Native framework on demand
- It comes with Flexbox for styling the user interface and various widgets and animations

- As it is a hybrid framework, applications built in react native can be deployed both in android as well as iOS.

In a recent listing by Mobile App Daily, a global research firm that showcase the latest updates in the mobile industry, Konstant ranked 6th from among 15 top react native development companies. Undoubtedly mobile applications are the backbone of smartphones, and apps have changed a lot with the current trends for smartphone software recently. Adding an exceptional feature to make it highly functional or making the interface user-friendly or interactive seems easy but have to be handled carefully considering customer satisfaction. With the increase in the number of gadgets, the introduction of augmented reality to make the user interface interactive, use of machine learning to make personalized offers, the popularity of mobile transactions, an increase in the number of Android and iOS users, smartphone trend will continue to grow. And as react native is a cross-platform app development framework, developers will continue making service applications.
