Corporate Wellness Market - Segmentation

This market research report includes a detailed segmentation of the market by the program, end-users, revenue model, delivery model, and geography. The global corporate wellness market by the program is classified into HRA, nutrition & weight management, smoking cessation, fitness services, alcohol and drug rehab, stress management, health & education services, and others. Stress management is the fastest growing segment in the global market, at a CAGR of over 9% during the forecast period. The extended hours, heavy workloads, and other issues at and outside of work are one of the primary factors attributing to the demand for stress management plans in the global market. Medium private sector businesses dominated the second largest market share in 2017, growing at a CAGR of approximately 9% during the forecast period. The implementation of wellness programs primarily by healthcare costs in Western economies and talent attraction in regions such as the APAC is propelling the growth of this segment in the global market.

The growing demand for onsite flu vaccinations, health and lifestyle coaching, and 24-hour nurse line are the main revenue generators in the seasonal revenue model in the global market. Team building programs, lab and gym membership vouchers, health fairs, at-home sample collection kits, and remote screening are the most popular offsite plans offered in the global market. Vendors tend to offer these programs as packages through collaborations with testing laboratories, fitness clubs, and health and technology providers in the global corporate wellness market.
