

New trends for Building Relevance in Your Career to Be Focus of PMI Mile Hi Symposium

Full day conference offers learning, networking, and PDUs with sessions on project management tools, & techniques, leadership, communications & teams

DENVER, CO, UNITED STATES, December 5, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- DENVER, CO—New trends on the hot topic of building and maintaining personal relevance as a businessperson will be the focus of a full day conference from PMI Mile Hi, Denver, CO, Friday, April 19, 2019, Colorado Convention Center.

Bestselling author Daniel Pink will offer the morning keynote address, on leadership and the new principles of influence. Pink's TED Talk on the science of motivation is one of the 10 most-watched TED Talks of all time, with more than 20 million views.

PDUs will be earned not just on the day of the Symposium but also post-event by accessing selected session videos and, thus, allowing time for business networking and connecting with colleagues.”

Jana Axline, PMP, President, PMI Mile Hi

His books include the popular “Drive-The Surprising Truth of What Motivates Us,” “To Sell is Human,” and the new release, “When: The Scientific Secrets of Perfect Timing.”

More than 1,500 project management practitioners are expected to attend the event, which is the largest annual gathering of the project management profession in the Rocky Mountain West.

The conference will feature workshops and breakouts throughout the day on topics such as project management technical skills and tools, leadership, communications and teamwork. It also includes a Continental breakfast, hot lunch buffet, Friday afternoon networking and professional development units (PDUs.)

As an added bonus for attendees, PDUs will be earned not just on the day of the Symposium but also post-event by accessing selected session videos and, thus, allowing time during the day for business networking and connecting with colleagues and leaders.
