Estrella del Mar in Mazatlan, Mexico will host one of the PGA Tour's 2019 Qualifying Tournaments that will help determine PGA TOUR Latinoamérica membership.

MAZATLAN, SINALOA, MEXICO, December 11, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The PGA TOUR announced that Estrella del Mar in Mazatlan, Mexico will host one of its four 2019 Qualifying Tournaments that will help determine PGA TOUR Latinoamérica membership. In addition to Mazatlan's Estrella del Mar, the other three sites of the 72-hole stroke play tournaments will be in Florida, Colombia and Argentina.

At each of the Qualifying Tournament venues, PGA TOUR Latinoamérica will award membership to the top-35 finishers and those tied for 35th. The medalist at each site will be exempt for the entire 2019 season and not subject to the reshuffle. The next-10 finishers at each tournament site will receive exempt status for the first half of the 2019 season. They will be subject to the reshuffle for the second half of the season. It is anticipated that each of the four qualifying tournaments will have 120 players vying for PGA TOUR Latinoamérica membership.

According to PGA TOUR Latinoamérica President Jack Warfield, "Our Qualifying Tournaments are well-run events that have always done a great job identifying those players ready to make the next steps in their careers. I am looking forward to watching the group of players who will emerge onto PGA TOUR Latinoamérica and some who will eventually play at golf's highest levels—the PGA TOUR."

Estrella del Mar's Director of Golf, Jorge Corral, said, "We are excited to welcome back the PGA TOUR Latinoamérica to Estrella del Mar. We have a great relationship with the PGA and have had some great tournaments in past years that have come down to the last hole.
