EINPresswire.com/ -- A monthly salary is hardly enough to get by anymore. An extra $500 or $1000 a month can make a big difference That's why it has become so important for people to have a secondary source of income.

One of the most popular ways to generate secondary income is through multilevel marketing companies. Also known as affiliated or network marketing, multilevel marketing companies utilize a network of independent distributors to deliver their products or services to the customers who want them, providing a platform to fast track business success.

Ari Carlson is a regional vice president of Arbonne International, a multilevel marketing company that specializes in the manufacture and distribution of health and skincare products.

"What drew me to Arbonne is I always had an entrepreneurial bug in me," says Ari. "I had worked for a Fortune 100 company, climbed the corporate ladder with success, but I just never felt really fulfilled in that corporate career. When I quit to be home with my kids, I was looking for something that was flexible and I would enjoy. This business model allows me to be an entrepreneur and I can build it as big or as I wanted that's what drew me to it. When I started to have dramatic, noticeable results with the products, I knew I was where I was meant to be."

Ari says one of the biggest concerns people have when they're evaluating whether this business can be a fit for them is whether they know enough people, but Ari says it doesn't really matter who you know today. If you have a desire to succeed, you find the people. Fortune is in the follow-up.

Still, you don't want to be intrusive; accosting people in the skincare aisle of your local supermarket is not the way to go. Not everyone walking down the street is a good fit for your business or your products. The only way to truly to succeed is to be genuinely interested in people, with no agenda.

"If you're genuinely interested in people, you're going to hear them share their dreams and desires. That provides an opportunity to say, 'Hey, I have something that can help,'" says Ari. "When you're out networking, you have to do it with an authenticity. You are intentionally looking to meet new people, but not with dollar signs in your eyes. More I'm looking for people who are looking for me. I have to get out there and meet people or I'm not going to find them."

Ari says the key to success in network marketing is to continuously nurture relationships.

"Some people come in with a lot of confidence it and some people come in with almost none of it. There's a learning curve, but I think that one of the things this industry offers in general and which Arbonne does really well is personal growth," says Ari. "There's so much mentoring and coaching that you receive from really highly successful people who have your best interest at heart. One of the beautiful things about this business is that then adds value to every area of your life."

CUTV News Radio will feature Ari Carlson in an interview with Jim Masters on December 17th at 3pm EST.
