RahTwoFive; discussing New Album, his Fashion Label, and his Positive Mental Attitude, Thanks Fans, Gives Away New Free Album "Cozy Season" Here

MALIBU, CALIFORNIA, US, January 10, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- RahTwoFive has been named one of Rap Music's Top New Artists to Watch in 2018 and 2019. One of the favorites of numerous A-list producers, the acclaimed singer / songwriter and producer is also a fashion designer, with his own successful fashion line. Known on Instagram as RahTwoFive, or otherwise simply known as RaH, the Los Angeles based singer has racked up over a half-million new plays and growing, on the leading music streaming site SoundCloud. Rah now gives fans his brand new album, "Cozy Season," free here below on the site, as his gift to them to show his appreciation.

Adding to the musical landscape of today's music industry, RahTwoFive was born and raised in Detroit, Michigan, starting his music career working with some of the industries biggest internet stars and top producers. Influenced by the Detroit area music scene, as well as his Indian / American background, Rah's multicultural roots are dynamically reflected in the diversity of his sound.

Having just released his daring new album "Cozy Season," Rah spoke about it in relation to his other work. He reveals, "Cozy Season" is really based around the topic of love and relationships. I wanted to theme it in R&B vibes for the holidays and winter season; something a couple could relax and cuddle to get cozy to." The artist adds, "I think I've grown a lot on this album. This is my newest body of work so it shows where I am in my career. I have both singing and rapping on this album as well as a lot of great production. I even have four other featured artists on this project, so it puts a light on a few of my other connections and friends in the industry."

His biography also notes that "With the first three letters of his full name; 'Rahul,' turning into his artist name, RaH got his nickname back in high school, which his friends used to call him." RaH states, "I think it's cool, because it's the name of the Sun God of Egyptian mythology, and I love the sun! My family and I traveled to Egypt around the same time I got the nickname, and it just stuck."

Regarding the production of the album, RaH states, "Cozy Season" is something different from what I've ever done, and I created the entire project with one producer; Jupyter from Detroit. I loved working with him! We understand each other musically, and compliment each other well. We've joked that we are like a Quincy Jones and Michael Jackson like duo together!" When asked about what other artists or producers he'd love to collaborate with, RaH states, "Drake, The Weeknd, Jay-Z, Rihanna, Trey Songs, Offset, Meek Mill, PartyNextDoor, and Ozuna. These are some of my favorite artists right now and I feel like we would sound really good together on a record."

RaH says he reads often, studying books on success, and positive thinking, among more. Focusing on love, peace, and prosperity, In addition to his style on "Cozy Season," RaH raps self-esteem, success, and faith. RaH states, "I want to tell other artists that you have to know yourself, believe in yourself, have good self-esteem, have faith, know what you want, and not stop until you get it."

In his hot new song "Super Winner," as seen in his official music video for that song also here below, RaH states that the song is about believing in himself, knowing he can achieve his goals, knowing that any obstacle will not stop him, and knowing that in the end--he will be a winner! RaH also urges other artists to have good self-esteem, have faith in God, know what you want, and don't stop until you get it! RaH adds, "You need to constantly redirect your focus to stay on the path towards greatness. At the same time, be fluid to new opportunities that arise at new levels that were previously unseen."

Running his own fashion label as well as a fast rising career in the world of R&B, rap, and hip hop, RaH advises other singers and musicians, as noted in NewsBlaze, "Don't give up! Continuously perfect your craft by fixing your weak points. Believe in yourself more than anyone else, and know inside that one-hundred-percent for sure, you will reach your goals!"

Discussing his favorite designers, RaH states; "Mahajan, Mario Marquez, and Baggage Claim; these are all brands that I either own or work with. I'm so involved with my custom couture pieces, I truly think it is the best fashion out right now." Aside from these, RaH states, "I like Gucci, Balenciaga, and Fendi. I think Black Pyramid; Chris Brown's clothing line is pretty cool as well."

As reported earlier in ABC News, RaH says he is "intent on creating an immense, positive impact on the world through heart-changing art." He credits his hope and faith with keeping him grounded, and optimistic. He reveals; "If I didn't stay positive, there would be no hope. I feel my mission is to help lessen the division that exists in America and the world, and lessen this negativity on Earth, to really help people see and feel real love."

RaH adds, "I can't wait for you all to hear and see my new album, songs, and see my videos. You can stay up to date on my Instagram, which will feature news of all the new releases. I hope you enjoy them as much as I do! I love creating and sharing with you, and thank you for believing in me!"
