The Quppy team is proud to announce that white label payment technology is now available on its platform.

TALLIN, TALLIN, ESTONIA, December 24, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Unique, Multi-Currency, Cross-Platform Crypto-Wallet Quppy, has announced that it now offers users white label technology on its platform. The solution, which can be applied to projects of any type, uses a decentralized white label Wallet from Quppy and Quppy Exchange to accept payments through the system, and buy & sell cryptocurrencies.

The Quppy team can now create a wallet for a client's own coin or for other coins, regardless of their availability in the wallet. This very unique service allows users the freedom to launch projects based on their own platform, and will even enable the project to display it's own custom design and logo. Users will also have the ability to add and remove these functions, and additional ones, based directly on their requirements.
