

PULP FICTION OLD-TIME RADIO SHOW PERFORMANCE

CLEARWATER, FL, US, December 27, 2018 /EINPresswire.com/ -- It's radio the way the entire nation used to tune in for drama and comedy. Dozens of guests gathered for an old-time radio show performance by the L. Ron Hubbard East Coast Golden Age Theater.

The all-volunteer theater group combines actors, costumes and sound effects to bring L. Ron Hubbard's pulp-fiction stories of the 1930s and 1940s to life. The most recent performance was November 30, 2018, at the Scientology Information Center on Fort Harrison Avenue and Cleveland Street.

Performance Theater - Radio Style - in the Scientology Information Center

The theater group performed River Driver, a humorous adventure story of a young man named Christopher Planket who has one last chance to show his rough and tough lumberjack father he's not just a weak-spine college kid.

Following his many mistakes, embarrassments and victories, the cast had the guests laughing throughout the performance. The L. Ron Hubbard, East Coast Golden Age Theater performs for audiences in the Scientology Information Center bimonthly.
