If people get more understanding about life in general, it can help them figure things out and make some things that seemed impossible, possible"

Manager*

"According to research statistics, only 8% of people who set New Year's resolutions are successful in carrying out their intentions," said Amber Skjelset, Manager of the Scientology Information Center. "There is a lot of room for improvement and we can provide some practical information to help people achieve what they are setting out for."

The open house will provide information through educational videos on:

- How to be happy
- The type of person who will bring you down and squash your goals
- What is the real source of conflict
- How to achieve one's targets and goals
- And more.

“Sometimes people think their problem lies in one area, yet it really lies in another. If people get more understanding about life in general, it can help them figure things out and make some things that seemed impossible, possible,” said Skjelset.

For more information about the open house or to learn more about the Scientology Information Center and future events please contact Amber Skjelset at (727) 467-6966 or email amber@cos.flag.org. The Center is open every day from 10am-10pm.

The Scientology Information Center, show above, will be welcoming the community for educational videos providing practical tools to better achieve their goals and New Year’s resolutions. The open house will take place daily from Dec 26th – January 31st –
