

Appliances Connection is Giving Away Free Frigidaire Cookware

With the purchase of a Frigidaire or Electrolux range or cooktop, Appliances Connection will give you a 3-piece Frigidaire cookware set.

BROOKLYN, NY, USA, January 7, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Induction cooking is the latest cutting-edge technology in the kitchen. For those not familiar with it and are under the impression that these are your run-of-the-mill electric cooktops, we at Appliances Connection would like to politely inform you that you couldn't be more wrong. Don't expect glowing red coiled elements that take forever to change temperature and are notoriously subject to cool spots. With induction, electromagnetism stimulates the metal in compatible cookware so that the bottoms of pots and pans become the actual cooking surface. Temperature adjustment is nearly instantaneous and the most uniform of any other cooking method. It's also the most efficient, using 85% of its power output as opposed to 71% used by conventional electric and 40% used by gas.

The operative term is "compatible cookware". Have we piqued your interest about induction cooking? Are you wondering as to whether you have pots and pans that can be used with induction? As always, Appliances Connection wants to make it easier for you. With the purchase of any Frigidaire or Electrolux induction range or cooktop, we'll give you a 3-piece Frigidaire stainless steel cookware set, a $99.98 value. The set consists of 3 quart sauté pan, a 1.5 quart sauce pot with lid, and a 5 quart stock pot with lid. These cooking vessels are the perfect tools to use with your new induction range or cooktop. They're brushed stainless steel with a heavy aluminum core that will heat quickly and evenly. But you'll have to act quickly. This giveaway will only last through January 31st. Upgrade your kitchen with the latest cooking technology from Frigidaire or Electrolux.
