Fulfillment.com Named a Multichannel Merchant Top Third Party Logistics Provider for 2019

Savannah, GA - Fulfillment.com has been named a Multichannel Merchant Top Third Party Logistics provider (3PL) for 2019 by the editors of Multichannel Merchant. Given the explosion of ecommerce and the increasing number of 3PLs in the marketplace, Multichannel Merchant has created this unique resource to vet 3PL providers for its audience. The online resource is a searchable directory for merchants looking for a qualified 3PL.

"We're thrilled by this designation," said Justin Singletary, CEO of Fulfillment.com. "We work hard to exceed our client's expectations by doing what we say we'll do, giving them personal service, and helping them grow their business."

"3PLs have become an increasingly important resource for ecommerce and direct-to-customer merchants who don't have the capital to invest in their own distribution networks," said Mike O'Brien, Senior Content Manager of Multichannel Merchant. "Each company on the list has been selected based on its industry experience, range of capabilities and ability to handle high order flow during peak periods."

The company profiles in the MCM Top 3PL listing include vital information to help merchants in their selection process, including key capabilities, average annual client order volume, top merchandise categories handled, facility locations and more.
