

Paula Ryan for Mayor Campaign Ad to Appear in NFL Playoff Game Sunday

Growing homeless population, drug related crimes, neighborhood infrastructure, traffic, business/jobs & tax issues spotlighted in new ad

WEST PALM BEACH, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, January 13, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Paula Ryan for Mayor Campaign will debut its first TV commercial during what will be one of the highest rated football games and weekend TV programs of the year. The video will air multiple times on CBS TV Sunday, January 13 beginning at 1 PM during the AFC Divisional Football Playoff game featuring the New England Patriots vs. the Los Angeles Chargers.

I hope to earn your trust as we address ongoing issues like the homeless, drug-related crimes, traffic, and infrastructure. Together, we can build a city of the future that leaves no one behind”

Paula Ryan

The huge TV audience will see why Paula Ryan is the top choice to lead the city of West Palm Beach as their concerns are echoed in her priorities. The opportunity to reach such a large segment of the population is part of the campaign's goal to insure an informed electorate for the Tuesday, March 12 election.

As more and more West Palm Beach voters discover and support the Paula Ryan for Mayor Campaign, the candidate's bold initiatives to fix neighborhood issues and to build a city of the future continues to dominate the local political discussion.

Neighborhoods are being canvassed, supporters are hosting Paula Ryan meet and greets, scores of volunteers work phone banks, social media updates post every day, and the campaign continues outreach to every voter in the city.

As Commission President Ryan said in her qualifying remarks, “I promise you that your priorities are my priorities and that specific needs in your neighborhood, from the Western communities to Historic Northwood, from Downtown to the Southend and to the Lands of the President, will finally get the attention they deserve but have not received in years.”

MEET PAULA RYAN

Raised in a military family, Paula has built a career filled with community and professional leadership. You've seen her at civic events and supporting nonprofit work for years. She has served as a West Palm Beach City Commissioner and now is the President of the Commission. She has run varied city government departments and led the neighborhood campaign for a former U.S. President. She rose to the level of CEO at major firms, building over 10,000 units of affordable housing for families – including many in our own community. She has actually ALREADY BUILT AND RUN MINI-CITIES! And when disaster struck, then-Mayor Lois Frankel appointed Paula to run a city department charged with overseeing disaster relief efforts for citizens devastated by two hurricanes. In just 100 days Paula put 107 roofs on the homes of the elderly, single mothers, and families with nowhere else to turn. Paula has the experience, drive, and knowledge to get the job done for West Palm Beach!
