The new Activity Tracking feature includes detailed activity logs that illustrate user and admin activity within the board portal. The easy to read table can be exported into an Excel spreadsheet and further enhanced for expanded reporting to auditors and other groups. Enhanced reporting fields include actions, item type, time frame, device type, and more.

This reporting feature will also help administrators collaborate more effectively on meeting minutes and agenda items. "For example, because Activity Tracking tracks annotations, changes to meeting minutes drafts, and agenda items, admins can now view who made changes and when changes were made to specific documents," continues Marion Lewis. "BoardBookit's rapidly growing reporting suite aims to improve board collaboration and data reporting to drive better governance and improve board oversight for organizations worldwide."
