

Pick a Stranger as Your Valentine? They Might Very Well Be Your Valentine for the Years to Come.

LoveMaze is Offering Such Opportunities to Make New York's Valentine Season Sweeter for the Singles.

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, USA, January 15, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- 64% of people agree that common interest is the most important factor in a relationship. 71% of people believe in love at first sight. 30% of people say that personality is most important on a first date. Is it possible to compress all these factors into one single solution and make your Valentine pick be your happy ever after love?

NEW YORK CITY, NY—January 15th, 2019—LoveMaze Inc, has invented a relationship science application (thelovemaze.com) that makes the Valentine season lasting and fulfilling for the singles. LoveMaze is offering a series of “Be My Valentine” activities to the love seeking singles. Some upcoming highlights include:

1) “Match In Style, How Would You Dress Me Up?” in partnership with Macy’s Inc. This is for fashion conscious singles to find their like-minded counter parts and enjoy the connection through dressing up each other. “The look says who you are. It’s important to know and learn some tips on how you’d like to present yourself through clothing,” says Beverly O, the host and stylist who has dressed up many celebrities’ wardrobe, “It’ll be so sweet and fun to give thoughts and dress up each other. For strangers, a common ground on styling is definitely a good indicator of the potential between two people.” This event is scheduled for February 1st, Friday, from 6:30 to 8:30pm in Macy’s Herald Square, Manhattan.

2)“Find Your Sugar In Sugar Arts,” hosted by Arlene Chua, the famed sugar artist who was the finalist in Food Network’s Gingerbread Showdown, has won many awards in the sugar world, and well featured in many major publications including the New York Times and Cookie Masters Magazine. Arlene will design the romantic theme and teach some techniques for the Valentines to utilize and express their creativity to each other. “Connecting through sugar, this is such a unique and meaningful theme. I express my love and passion through cookie decoration. It is great to share with others and help them to connect through the LoveMaze mechanism. I am excited,” states Arlene. This event is scheduled for February 9th, Saturday, from 6-8pm in Whole Foods Market Columbus Circle, Manhattan.

3)“Hunt for A Valentine at Sweethearts Bazaar,” in partnership with Grand Bazaar NYC, New York’s biggest and most innovative weekly market. Deep rooted in scientific research and the Nobel Prize winning Stable Matching theory, LoveMaze application is designed for individuals to identify their Stable Match in a crowd. “We accommodate thousands of visitors on any open day. I hope as many people as possible can join this special singles event and find their sweethearts in Sweethearts Bazaar,” says Marc Segó, Executive Director at Grand Bazaar NYC. The event is scheduled for February 10th, Sunday, from 11am to 3pm at Grand Bazaar NYC. Look for the LoveMaze tent at the entrance to check in.

Identify the one-and-only from the crowd, that's what LoveMaze can do for you.”

4)“Connect in Butter Lane,” hosted by Butter Lane Bakery, which makes one of the best cupcakes in NYC according to TimeOut. “Baking together is enchanting,” states Lee Laurie, the General Manager of Butter Lane Bakery, “Our sweetheart classes are very popular but we could only offer to couples in the past. Now that the LoveMaze system takes away the challenge of gender balancing and onsite partner matching, I'm excited to offer this to singles to Meet Their Sweetheart!” The event is scheduled for February 12th, Tuesday, from 7 to 9pm at Butter Lane

Bakery in the East Village.

If you'd like to practice some skills to charm and get ready for the Valentine season, join this "Charm Your Date With Improv" event, hosted by Jeff Sauber, a writer, artist, comedian and the creator of NYC Draw-a-thon. In this event, you will practice with your new date whom you just meet onsite, on the art of humor. The sweetest part is that the new date can very well become the Valentine if you both find the spark in the process! This event is scheduled for January 24th, Thursday, from 7-9pm in Otto's Shrunken Head Tiki Lounge, Manhattan.

A profile and RSVP to the events in LoveMaze are required to participate (<https://enter.thelovemaze.com>). Currently, it's free to join LoveMaze. Users gain Love Ammos for being a responsible, persistent, and active member of the love community. Love Ammos can be used to gain access or discount to events, making the love seeking endeavor rewarding for constructive behaviors. There are many tools to prepare users for their Valentine pick. Users can see Compatibility Quotient (CQ), and go on a virtual game date with others to gauge interest and compatibility, facilitating a fruitful Valentine run.

The advent of LoveMaze relationship application for sure brings more fun and hope to NYC singles in Valentine's season this year. More information on LoveMaze can be found: <https://thelovemaze.com>.
