Vu360 Solutions Taps into Next Generation Supply Chain Software by Harnessing AI and Machine Learning Technology

Vu360 released a brand-new AI enabled supply chain software solution that harnesses the power of AI and Machine Learning for all types and sizes of companies.

NAPERVILLE, ILLINOIS, UNITED STATES, January 15, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Vu360 Solutions, a leading provider of IoT based supply chain technology in agriculture, pharmaceutical, healthcare and other verticals, released a brand-new AI enabled supply chain software solution that harnesses the power of AI and Machine Learning for all types of companies from fortune 500 to small and medium enterprises.

Vu360's amplified intelligent software uncovers valuable insights into your business for improved financial outcomes. Vu360 offers data-powered technology solutions for greater operations efficiency, accurate demand planning, reduction of overall carrying costs, warehouse space optimization and higher levels of staff productivity.

Bringing value to our clients through:

AI Based Demand Projections: Real-time and intuitive AI based predictive models that can manage multiple SKU's and geographical locations

Just-In-Time Inventory Management: Manage and optimize inventory with direct connection to accurate demand forecast and higher inventory turnover

Warehouse Space Optimization: Lower cost of storage and related energy costs with an integrated WMS or the ability to work with existing WMS

Automated Data Pipeline: Advanced Data Pipeline for automated data ingestion and transformation with integrated AI/Machine Learning Models and visualization tools to achieve best performance in every part of supply chain

RFID Technology: RFID integration for easy tracking of inventory and controlled environments utilizing dual RFID/Barcoding system

Cold Chain Optimization: Cold Chain management and integrated thermal imaging for precise monitoring & control

Supplier and Client Visibility: Interoperability with other ERP/WMS solutions and visibility into Supplier and Client systems

And So Much More...

About Vu360 Solutions
Vu360 Solutions is the fastest growing global software technology company that focuses on solving wide ranging complex supply chain challenges within the healthcare, pharmaceuticals, agriculture and warehouse management industries. To learn more about our software solutions visit our website www.vu360solutions.com

Micalina Grove
Vu360 Solutions
+1 630-233-4471
email us here
Visit us on social media:
Twitter
LinkedIn

This press release can be viewed online at: http://www.einpresswire.com