

Cub Scouts Take to the Pinewood Derby at the Clearwater Community Volunteers Center

CLEARWATER, FL, US, January 17, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On January 19th, Cub Scout Pack 43 will hold their annual Pinewood Derby inside the Clearwater Community Volunteers (CCV) Center. More than 20 Cub Scouts will pit their gravity-propelled cars against the others in a downhill race. The adult volunteers of Pack 43 organize the Pinewood Derby every year to enable the youth to learn elementary sciences, such as the role of gravity, in a competitive atmosphere.

Cub Scouts pack 43 will use the CCV Center to hold their annual Pinewood Derby where the Scouts compete for trophies.

The 12-foot-long race track will be set up inside the Center alongside a scoreboard for keeping track of the race times. Winners of the race will be awarded trophies.

The CCV Center works with over a dozen youth groups like the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts of America in order to help create the competent leaders of tomorrow.”

Ms. Clemence Chevrot, Director of the CCV Center said, “The CCV Center works with over a dozen youth groups like the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts of America in order to help create the competent leaders of tomorrow.”

The Cub Scouts is the preliminary program to the Boy Scouts of America for those youth whose ages range from 7-11. Youth in the Cub Scouts participate in fun activities that also help them in their education. The program was created to develop positive characteristics such as cheerfulness, kindness, and helpfulness in young boys.

The Pinewood Derby’s name hails from the blocks of pinewood that the boys craft into the small wooden cars used in the race.

“Educating youth through the Scouting program enables them to learn useful skills. With these skills they are able to lead moral and successful lives like L. Ron Hubbard once wrote, "Today's Children will become tomorrow civilization. They need love and help to make it," said Dylan Pires, Eagle Scout and Community Affairs Director of the Church of Scientology Flag Service Organization. The Church sponsors Troop 313 of the Boys Scouts.

The CCV Center was established by the Church of Scientology in late March 2018 to provide a safe, no-charge event venue to nonprofits like the Cub Scouts.
