This program is designed for families who want to plan the event itself, but need some help along the way. We will keep you on track and guide you in the direction that YOU want to go. This begins with an initial consultation to discuss your vision and combine the work and details you have already done, along with some advise on how to tweak to your advantage. We will be the “experts” overseeing all aspects to insure perfect execution.

As with all our programs, we will be there for the entire weekend.
