About Heat Holders

Our company was established in 1947 in England. At that time the company used to trade yarn. The last few decades our company has been manufacturing, importing and distributing socks. We established our North American office in 2010 and ship domestically from within USA. Heat Holders® were developed by our talented product development team in house. The challenge was to make a sock that would be the warmest sock ever and comfortable and practical to wear in daily life. It wasn't easy, but our team came up with Heat Holders® in 2008. Since then we have sold more than 20 million pairs worldwide and our distribution continues to grow. For more information please visit, www.heatholders.com
