About Enclavix, LLC and VentureWrench Startup Tools for Entrepreneurs

Enclavix is an Artificial Intelligence software company that creates online tools to accelerate innovation and entrepreneurship by applying artificial intelligence, machine learning and related technologies to identify and curate the highest quality, most useful resources to coach and support startup entrepreneurs and to tackle intellectual property challenges. The company has received over $1.2 million in funding from the National Science Foundation through the SBIR program to allow the launch of the AI – powered VentureWrench Library, the heart of the VentureWrench Startup Tools for Entrepreneurs.

The VentureWrench Library uses 8 AI systems to evaluate potential resources and select the best information to help support and coach startup entrepreneurs. Thousands of high quality resources are grouped into more than 90 sub-categories. With a few clicks, entrepreneurs can find problem solving resources from high quality sources.

The startup coaches and creators of VentureWrench Startup Tools for Entrepreneurs, the team at Enclavix, LLC, are experienced entrepreneurs who have started multiple businesses, raised millions of dollars in investment from investors and the SBIR program, and sold their prior company to a public firm. Our CEO has also

About the Silicon Slopes Tech Summit

Silicon Slopes Tech Summit (siliconslopessummit.com) is a globally recognized two-day summit organized and hosted by the Silicon Slopes organization and community, attracting over 20,000 attendees. Silicon Slopes (#SiliconSlopes) is the hub of Utah's startup and tech community. Silicon Slopes is a state-wide organization and the official moniker of Utah's startup and tech community with chapters in every region of the state, as well as chapters focused on specific topics/sectors within the community.

About the National Science Foundation's Small Business Programs

America's Seed Fund powered by NSF awards $200 million annually to startups and small businesses, transforming scientific discovery into products and services with commercial and societal impact. Startups working across almost all areas of science and technology can receive up to $1.5 million in non-dilutive funds to support research and development (R&D), helping de-risk technology for commercial success. America's Seed Fund is congressionally mandated through the Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) program. The NSF is an independent federal agency with a budget of about $7.8 billion that supports fundamental research and education across all fields of science and engineering.
