

CCHR Warns: Widespread Misuse of the Baker Act is a Human Rights Abuse

CCHR is continuing a campaign to educate Floridians on mental health rights so they can protect themselves and their loved ones from abusive use of this law.

CLEARWATER, FL, UNITED STATES, February 6, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Commonly called the Baker Act, the mental health law in Florida allows for individuals of all ages, including children, to be taken into custody and sent for an involuntary psychiatric examination. The most recent report shows that there were more than 199,000 involuntary psychiatric examinations in Florida and that over 32,000 of these initiations were on children, some as young as two years of age. [1]

The headquarters for CCHR Florida are located in downtown Clearwater.

Unfortunately, a report made during the 2017 Baker Act Task Force also indicates that, at least in the case of children, a significant number of these involuntary examinations do not really meet the legal criteria to take a person into custody. [2]

“

The abusive use of a law that allows a person of any age to be taken into custody against their will when the legal criteria for doing so are not met is a human rights violation.”

Diane Stein, President CCHR Florida

The abusive misuse of a law which allows a person's rights and freedoms to be taken away prompted the Citizens Commission on Human Rights (CCHR) to launch a campaign in 2015 to educate families, lawmakers, law enforcement and school districts on mental health rights. According to CCHR, almost 200,000 families have been informed of their rights since the start of the campaign.

In addition to handing out information on the law at events across the state, CCHR began hosting seminars on Baker Act Rights at their headquarters located in downtown Clearwater. Delivered by attorney Carmen Miller, a former assistant public defender in the Thirteenth Circuit in Tampa, those in attendance are provided with a non-consent form that may help in preventing the illegal Baker Acting of a loved one.

“The abusive use of a law that allows a person of any age to be taken into custody against their will when the legal criteria for doing so are not met is a human rights violation,” said the president of CCHR Florida, Diane Stein.

While the original stated intention of the Baker Act was to protect the rights of citizens sent for involuntary psychiatric examination, it has become a source of great abuse, abuse which CCHR is on a crusade to end. The complimentary Baker Act Rights Seminar is held monthly in the headquarters for the Florida chapter of CCHR located at 109 N. Fort Harrison Drive in downtown Clearwater. To learn more about the Baker Act or to reserve seats at the next seminar please call 727-442-8820.

About CCHR: Initially established by the Church of Scientology and renowned psychiatrist Dr. Thomas Szasz in 1969, CCHR's mission is to eradicate abuses committed under the guise of mental health and enact patient and consumer protections. L. Ron Hubbard, founder of Scientology, first brought psychiatric imprisonment to wide public notice: "Thousands and thousands are seized without process of law, every week, over the 'free world' tortured, castrated, killed. All in the name of 'mental health,'" he wrote in March 1969. For more information visit www.cchrflorida.org

Sources:

[1] Baker Act Reporting Center
<http://www.dcf.state.fl.us/programs/sa/mh/publications/The%20Baker%20Act%20-%20FL%20MH%20Act%20-%20FY%2016-17%20Annual%20Report%20-%20Released%20June%202018.pdf>

[2] CHILDREN'S BAKER ACT TASK FORCE, MINUTES for FIRST MEETING 7.20.17

<http://www.dcf.state.fl.us/programs/sa/mh/mentalhealth/task-force-examination-minors/docs/20170720/20170720-minutes.pdf>

Diane Stein

Citizens Commission on Human Rights of Florida

+1 727-871-5715

email us here

Visit us on social media:

Facebook

Twitter

LinkedIn

The Citizens Commission on Human Rights is a non-profit mental health watchdog dedicated to the eradication of abuses committed under the guise of mental health.

Florida Children at Risk

INVOLUNTARY COMMITMENT of MINORS

In 2005-2006 the Florida Senate published an Interim Project Report clarifying the Baker Act requirements. The alarming concern was that children were being held in receiving facilities for extended periods of time. It was not until 2017, that the mental health act was amended to expedite the examination of children from 72 hours to 12 hours.

Since publication of the Senate Report, over 295,000 minors, some as young as 5, were sent for involuntary examination – many taken from their school without parental knowledge of the initiation.

A significant percentage did not meet the criteria of the Florida Statute for Baker Acting in the first place, thus, inappropriate involuntary psychiatric commitment.

Citizens Commission On Human Rights
Call 800.782.2878, for more information
www.cchrflorida.org

© 2017 CCHR Florida. All Rights Reserved. CCHR Logo, CCHR, Citizens Commission on Human Rights are trademarks and service marks owned by Citizens Commission on Human Rights and are used with its permission.

The elimination of inappropriate, involuntary psychiatric examinations, hinges on willing parents being brought into the process BEFORE a Baker Act is initiated.

The most recent report shows that there were more than 199,000 involuntary psychiatric examinations in Florida and that over 32,000 of these initiations were on children, some as young as two years of age.

This press release can be viewed online at: <http://www.einpresswire.com>

Disclaimer: If you have any questions regarding information in this press release please contact the company listed in the press release. Please do not contact EIN Presswire. We will be unable to assist you with your inquiry. EIN Presswire disclaims any content contained in these releases. © 1995-2019 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.