Jones improved his boxing record to 12-1. His single power jabs, combinations, and body shots contributed to knocking out Sherrington and ended the fight in front of the capacity-filled Tyndall Armory in Indianapolis, Indiana. He ranks No. 20 in the USA. Jones currently holds the light heavyweight NABC champion belt.

"While both fighters aggressively exchanged a flurry of punches, Malcolm dominated the first three rounds and as the fight entered the fourth round, Sherrington hit the floor and the battle was over," said Dominic Brogan, founder of Chin Chek Promotions and Jones' trainer. "This fight was a tough test of Malcolm's young career, but he told me that he would bring Sherrington to his knees and he did just that."

The Jones matchup marks Sherrington's 50th fight with a record of 37-12, 21 KOs. The 36-year-old Aussie is formerly a 5-time world title holder, including World Boxing Foundation middleweight champion, International Boxing Federation Pan-Pacific champion and World

Boxing Council Asia Pacific champion.
He ranks No. 13 in Australia.

The event commentators were Kyle Knezevich, a former Golden Gloves boxer, is currently the producer/host of 107.5FM/1070AM The Fan ESPN Radio Show, "Gloves Off," and Abdullah Johnson, a Golden Gloves champion, is a three-time silver medalist in the Armed Forces Boxing Championship.

The next Chin Chek Promotions "Super Brawl" is set for February 16, 2019 at the Tyndall Armory, 711 North Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis, IN. The event will be available on FITE.TV.
