

SPO Global Announces Management Update and Announces Plan for New Winery

WOBURN, MA, UNITED STATES, February 26, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Via WWW.OTCMASSMEDIA.COM -- SPO GLOBAL, INC. (OTC Pink: SPOM), ("SPO" or the "Company") has announced that Max Boscaino has joined the Company as CEO and a Board Member. Mr. Boscaino will join Saeb Jannoun, the Company's CIO, on the board, and will replace Stuart Barton, who has resigned both the CEO and Board Position.

Mr. Boscaino is a veteran winemaker with 23 years of winery experience. He graduated with a Masters Degree from Studiorum University of Bologna in Enology and Viticulture and an undergraduate degree in Agrarian Biotechnologies. Mr. Boscaino has been instrumental in the success of the Winestream Tampa operations and will apply the same principals and focus to the additional US operations. His extensive knowledge of wines, vineyards, blends and wine preservation techniques will ensure that the wines produced will be of premium quality.

In addition, the Company is pleased to announce that it has identified a location in the Atlanta, Georgia area to open a winery. This location will serve Northern Florida, Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee. The Company anticipates that the winery will be completed by September 2019 and will service and supply the southeastern United States.

The Company is also in additional discussions with several other groups regarding additional wineries in other specific geographic regions.

2016, 949 million gallons of wine were consumed in the United States. "We view the entry into the kegged wine industry as both an economic and environmentally solid business opportunity. Offering wine in a keg ensures fresh wine throughout, prevents spoilage, waste and eliminates the glass and trash footprint from traditional bottle usage," stated Max Boscaino, CEO. "In addition, a single keg eliminates 27 bottles, 27 corks and 54 labels – you only pay for the wine!"
