

Agenda Released for Future Armored Vehicles Active Protection Systems USA 2019

Smi reports: Agenda released for the Future Armored Vehicles Active Protection Systems USA conference, taking place on June 11th-12th in Arlington, VA.

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, March 4, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In order to maintain maximum armored vehicle staying power in modern battlespaces, many nations are seeking to upgrade their vehicle survivability through the use of Active Protection Systems (APS).

With this in mind, SMi Group are delighted to host Future Armored Vehicles Active Protection Systems USA taking place on June, 11th and 12th, in Arlington, VA. The conference is the only and first event in the world dedicated to this important capability.

The two-day conference will explore the lessons learned from the adoption and integration of Active Protection Systems into new vehicle fleets from experts such as Lieutenant Colonel Ron Plender of the Royal Netherlands Army.

Delegates at the event will be able to hear the latest developments on US and international programs for developing modular and integrated Active Protection systems from senior project managers including Mr David Marck, PM Main Battle Tank Systems and Lieutenant Colonel Daniel Ramos, the Product Manager for Vehicle Protection systems from PEO Ground Combat Systems.

Attendees at this one of a kind meeting will learn about the opportunities for the industry to engage in the future of combat vehicle survivability, as the US and International community develop increasingly sophisticated architecture for system integration.
