She's also the ex-president of CA Association of Mortgage Professionals. Pam covered the do's and don'ts in the real estate transactions during the conference. One of the topics she discussed is the renewal of the DRE license. Real estate agents are required to complete 45 hours of continuing education to renew their license. They have to renew their license 90 days before the expiration date. Those who fail to do so may renew their license during the 2-year late renewal period immediately after the expiration date of their license. They can't perform activities that require a real estate license until their license has been renewed.

If their license is already expired and they still conduct real estate transactions or projects that require a license, they have to pay a fine of $20,000 to the broker personally and directly and $20,000 to the corporation. The penalty also includes 6 months of county jail time. All of the commissions they earned due to their work after the expiration of their license are returned to the state.

Titanium Real Estate Network always features special guest speakers at their quarterly conference to provide their team and vendor partners with the skills and knowledge required to deal with the challenges they might face during transactions.
