

ITFirms Outrides Listable CRM Software 2019

Sneak-peek into the recent list of Best CRM Software by ITFirms!

NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, March 7, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Organizations make use of Customer Relationship Management (CRM) software to manage their office operations. These are a single but comprehensive solution to handle various tasks like sending and receiving emails, making calls, managing attendance of employees, scheduling meetings and appointments, adding notes, tracking leads and getting notified about any important happening within the organization.

CRM software helps organizations manage their relationships with their inner circle (employees) as well as with their outer circle (clients and prospects). This is a way to stay connected (online or offline), streamline various processes and subsequently improve profitability. If managed department-wise, CRM applications can help module leads, team leads, project managers, HR, and operations in facilitating comprehensive and coordinated employee as well as customer experience.

Challenges faced by research firms fall into three broad categories:

- Impactful reporting
- Technology
- Data Management

Getting actionable reports that relate directly to business needs followed closely by the management of data, is the most important function of having a CRM software. ITFirms reviewed trending CRM software used by various global organizations. These have puzzled out various technology issues, data management, and impactful reporting subsequently:

1. HubSpot CRM
2. amoCRM (Paid)
3. Zoho CRM (Paid)
4. Freshsales (Paid)
5. Bitrix24 (Paid)
6. ManageEngine SupportCenter Plus
7. Salesmate (Paid)
8. Accelo (Paid)
9. Copper (Paid)
10. todo.vu (Paid)
