

Arctic Wolf Photography Exhibition in New York City

To raise awareness about Climate Change and to support The Wolf Conservation Center

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, March 7, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A PHOTO EXHIBITION WITH EJAZ KHAN AND THE WOLF CONSERVATION CENTER
March 14th, 2019
6PM-10PM EST.
Ejaz Khan Art Gallery
260 West 36th Street, 2nd floor
New York, NY 10018

You are invited to attend the photo exhibition of never seen before images of the Arctic Wolf. I am reaching out to you because I believe you would support the movement towards helping endangered animals/climate change and that your voice will have a significant impact in spreading the message.

I am a fashion and wildlife photographer. On one of my expeditions to the Arctic, my Inuit tracker pointed in the distance to where a glacier once stood but has now disappeared. He had tears in his eyes while he spoke about it with me. There are countless examples of climate change around the world, but despite the red flags, as a big city dweller, I have ignored them...

Once we take responsibility for actions in our daily lives and stay mindful of the environment, we can slow the process of global warming.”

Ejaz Khan

As a fashion photographer, I pay models to work with me. As a wildlife photographer, I don't pay my subjects. I WANT TO GIVE BACK TO THE ORGANIZATION that can help the animals I photograph.

I am hosting a photography exhibition on March 14th at my studio in NYC with The Wolf Conservation Center to benefit the wolves. We would love for you to attend this special night and show your support.
