DUBAI, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES, March 12, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In light of the new government approved Citizenship By Investment program in Moldova, Ziad El Shurafa reviews the potential of Moldova being a magnet to investors and high net-worth individuals seeking second citizenship. On January 1, 2019, The Moldova government officially started accepting applications for its Citizenship By Investment program.

"Moldova, in my opinion, represents more than just another passport in your collection, but an actual destination for immigration," said Ziad El Shurafa, a citizenship consultant. "Compared to other countries offering citizenship by investment, it feels more like a place to live, as opposed to a holiday destination."
