

Lucyd Files 13 Design Patents on Lucyd Loud Music Glasses

In the lead-up to the launch of the new version of Lucyd Loud, Lucyd has filed additional intellectual property.

SINGAPORE, March 22, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Lucyd PTE Ltd, the developer of an eShop for innovative spectacles, is pleased to announce that it has filed thirteen design patents covering its new line of Lucyd Loud 2.0 Bluetooth bone conduction glasses. Lucyd also has a pending utility patent for an IOT communications app called Link, which allows for the free flow of information and control between Bluetooth-enabled devices.

Lucyd expects these new glasses to be available late in Q2 of 2019. These new frames will provide fashion-forward designs coupled with Bluetooth features, proper corrective lenses, all day battery life, and will be available worldwide.

We believe Lucyd Loud is the first entry into the smartglass market that is suitable for mass adoption, as a result of its affordable price point, attractive design and high utility.”
