

Ron Zambrano Joins West Coast Employment Lawyers as Litigation Chair

Zambrano will represent employees in unequal pay, discrimination and harassment, wrongful termination, whistleblower, wage and hour violations suits.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, April 5, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- LOS ANGELES, April 5, 2019 – West Coast Employment Lawyers announced today that Ron Zambrano has joined the firm to chair its Litigation Practice in the representation of aggrieved employees with regards to unequal pay, workplace discrimination and harassment, wrongful termination, whistleblower protection, wage and hour violations and other employment-related claims.

“Our employment firm is flourishing, and we are delighted to work with a lawyer of Ron’s caliber to guide that growth and maintain the top-quality representation wronged and injured employees deserve,” said Neema Rahmani, president and co-founder of West Coast Employment Lawyers. “His knowledge of the law, his creative solutions to complex employment matters, and his compassion and understanding toward ill-treated employees combine to make him the lawyer you want on your side against lawbreaking employers.”

Ron Zambrano

Zambrano has won millions for aggrieved employees from all walks of life and backgrounds against the City of Los Angeles, the Long Beach Police Department, the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, Boeing, Ralphs, Carmax, Wells Fargo, Walmart, Macy’s and Curacao. He has repeatedly prevailed before the California Court of Appeal, including a wrongful termination case (Williams v. Carlin & Buchsbaum), and a case in which the court overturned a trial court’s dismissal, allowing plaintiff to continue with a claim (Carlin & Buchsbaum v. Page).

Zambrano graduated with honors from Whittier Law School, where he was Articles Editor for the Whittier Law Journal. He also has a Bachelor’s in International Relations from the University of Southern California. Zambrano, the son of South American immigrants, is fluent in Spanish.
