

Scoutmaster of Boy Scouts Troop 313 Awarded Scoutmaster of the Year at Clearwater Community Volunteers Center

CLEARWATER, FL, US, April 11, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On April 6th, Chris Lumsden, Scoutmaster of Boy Scouts Troop 313 was awarded Scout Master of the Year by the Miccosukee District of the Boy Scouts Greater Tampa Bay Council. The award, reserved for those Scoutmasters who demonstrate the highest level of dedication and leadership to their troop, was presented to him at his Troop's weekly meeting at the Clearwater Community Volunteers (CCV) Center in downtown Clearwater.

Mr. Lumsden said, "I'm honored to receive this award. Working with the boys is very rewarding and a lot of fun. Over the years I've seen one of my sons become an Eagle Scout at 14 and the other is about to achieve the same. They, like other boys in the program, grew into responsible leaders in their community through Scouting."

Chris Lumsden, Scoutmaster of Troop 313 of the Boy Scouts of America, was presented with the Scoutmaster of the year award on April 6th at the Clearwater Community Center in downtown Clearwater. Here Mr. Lumsden proudly shows the Troop their award for their hard work.

First serving the troop as assistant Scoutmaster, Mr. Lumsden became the Troop 313 Scoutmaster in 2017 and has since helped the boys of his troop earn merit badges on their way through the ranks to Eagle Scout. During his tenure as Scoutmaster he has obtained the Wood Badge to better help those Scouts under his care whether they be a member of his troop or not.

The Boy Scouts program seeks to teach boys positive moral values and skills that they will carry with them throughout their life.”
