Fighting a traffic ticket is frustrating, confusing, time-consuming, and costly. TicketBust.com makes it simple. Most people receive at least one traffic ticket every 18 months. However, people who drive more often are more likely to receive several tickets a year. Not only are these tickets very expensive, upwards of $600 for some tickets, but can cause your insurance rates to increase and your license to be suspended if you have too many points on your record. California drivers need to keep points off their driving record or their ability drive and/or earn a living is in jeopardy. The true cost of one ticket can be as high as $2,700 over a 3-year period.

TicketBust is an easy to use, web service and mobile application that allows California drivers to simply fight a traffic ticket without going to court. For over 15 years, we have assisted tens of thousands of California drivers with contesting their traffic tickets.
