For the third year in a row, KDG in Allentown has been recognized as a top Philadelphia custom software development team.

ALLENTOWN, PA, 18104, April 25, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- KDG's custom software development team in Allentown, PA has once again been recognized by Clutch.co, an independent B2B ratings, review, and research firm. Clutch named the software development team #3 in the Philadelphia-metro region.

"Before we even develop a piece of software, our team takes time to get to know our clients and their processes to ensure that we are building them the solution they need," says Zac Mason, VP of Technology at KDG. "Known as the Project Discovery Process, this sets us apart from a lot of competitors in the industry."

Clutch named KDG a market leader in the Philadelphia area based on client interviews, customer ratings, and detailed industry research and analysis. Hundreds of firms in and around Philadelphia were considered, but only a few were chosen as proven industry leaders.
