Fredericksburg, VA, May 6, 2019 – EDAC Systems, Inc., a leading value-added reseller and integrator of document imaging, content, records and business process management solutions and services, received the Top Reseller award from Alaris, a Kodak Alaris business, at its 2019 Partner Summit held in April in Nashville, Tennessee.

The award acknowledges the long-term relationship between the two companies and recognizes EDAC Systems for being the Alaris reseller with the largest sales volume in 2018. Large deals with federal and state government agencies led to the installation of more than 135 high-speed document scanners including the i5850 Scanner, a production model that can power through 210 pages per minute.

"The Kodak Alaris family and EDAC have had a long and successful relationship for over 28 years," says Ann Blevins, President and CEO of EDAC Systems, Inc. "The combination of the Alaris partnership and EDAC's strong connection to its Federal customers allows us to design and implement the solutions necessary to help our customers to complete their missions"

"Partners are critical to our success," said Katie Sullivan-Armento, U.S. & Canada Sales Director, Alaris, a Kodak Alaris business. "EDAC Systems understands our customers' complex business needs. Together, we provide world-class information capture solutions and services that meet the most demanding requirements of federal and local agencies. They are an integral part of our growth and will continue to be a valued partner as we expand our business in the government sector."

Over the years, EDAC Systems has received the Kodak Alaris' Federal Reseller of the Year award eleven times and the Top Reseller in the Country award three times.
