

Amazon SEO & Marketing Expert Mark Casey of MarkCaseySEO Wins Praise From Clients for Advanced Listing Methods

Outranking the competition on Amazon is tough. Mark Casey has cracked the code & offers Amazon SEO services to clients wanting to appear on Amazon's first page.

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, May 13, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- There's little doubt that Amazon.com is a very highly competitive environment on one hand but on the other, it is also a marketplace where a great deal of profit can be made. The difference is almost completely where a product appears in search results. The good news is help is out there for those who would like to bring in professional help. Enter Amazon SEO and marketing expert Mark Casey from MarkCaseySEO, who has earned a reputation for being on the cutting edge of Amazon listing results, optimizing client's listing strategies to get them the best results possible. He recently celebrated all of the positive feedback he has received from clients in diverse Amazon sales spaces, beating out some of the biggest and toughest competition active on the marketplace.

“Without the right strategies and listing methods it is extremely difficult to really be successful selling on Amazon, especially with some of the competition from China, high-level dropshippers, and other obstacles,” commented Casey. “I am proud to say I know the latest methods and strategies that produce results for clients on a daily basis. I have helped over 5000 clients, and even won praise from Kevin O’Leary from Shark Tank, which was really like a dream come true.”

According to Casey, important areas he focuses his efforts on for client's include optimizing titles, bullet points, and descriptions; finding and using optimal keywords; finding out details about the competition and finding out what works for them and why; keeping PPC budgets under control; and much more.

All of his work is based on systems he has developed and seen work firsthand, with no guesswork or unprofessionalism involved, that is sometimes often seen with amateurish SEO firms. Importantly, with the Chinese being ahead of American sellers by at least one generation in tech and Casey knowing how to overcome this, his SEO work can make a stunning difference.

Casey is as close to a true “Amazon SEO Guru” as anyone could hope to find with a realm of deep experience and mastery he and his team has that includes graphics, rankings, reviews, and basically covering everything needed in order to succeed on Amazon from A-Z. Plus Casey has a network of trusted affiliates he gladly refers clients to, in the rare case, if they need anything beyond what we he and MC Networking offer.

The feedback from clients continues to be passionate across the board.

David L., from Boston, recently said in a five-star review, "Mark Casey helped me turn around my sales of a few different fitness products on Amazon. I was getting killed and now I am on the first page with his hard work. The difference in the amount of money I make is unreal."
