

Lucyd Launches LOUD 2.0 Bluetooth Eyewear Collection

Lucyd releases new collection of prescription tech eyewear, bringing fashionable Bluetooth-enabled designs to the market.

SINGAPORE, May 14, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Lucyd Pte Ltd, the developer of an eShop for innovative eyewear, is pleased to announce that it has launched Loud 2.0, a new line of prescription-ready Bluetooth® music glasses.

The new collection offers 10 exclusive, fashion-forward designs, coupled with more than 20 different options for proper corrective lenses, all day battery life, and a host of useful tech features.

Lucyd Loud is a special pair of glasses—not only do they correct vision and protect from the sun, but they are also Bluetooth-enabled. Lucyd Loud makes it possible to listen to music, make phone calls and use voice assistants from your glasses. The voice assistant function enables a number of useful apps to be used handsfree, such as Uber® and Cashapp®. It's perfect for cyclists, runners, athletes and people on the go, because you can still hear your surroundings while staying connected. They're also great for the beach or shopping, or any other situation where you want your music, but don't want to carry headphones.

With this new collection, tech eyewear meets cutting-edge fashion for the first time.”
