

Pre-Launch Subscription Now Available for New and Innovative Maze Game, Extnt

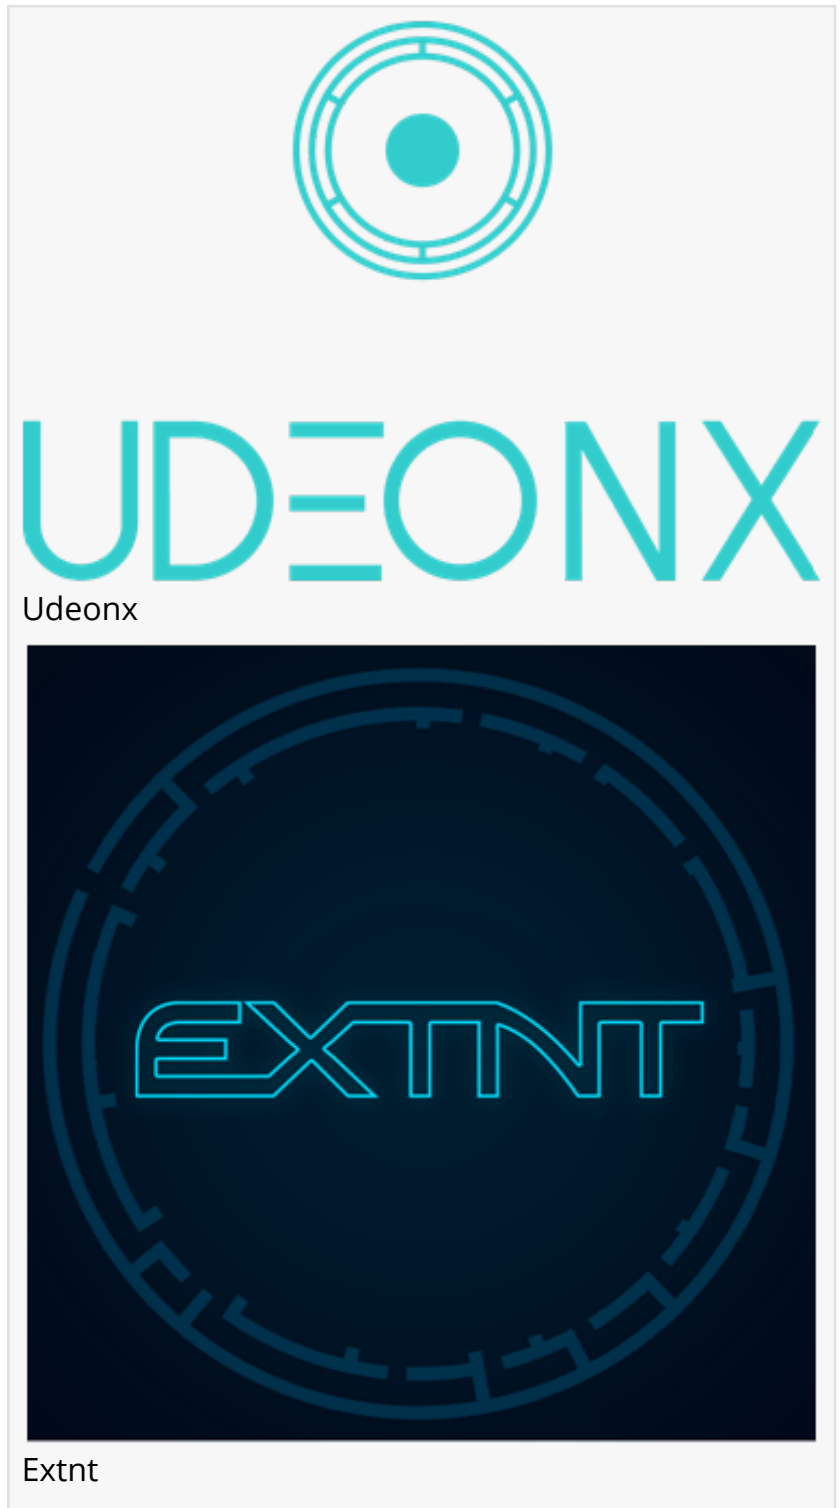

TORONTO, ON, CANADA, May 14, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Developers of a new and innovative maze game are pleased to announce pre-launch subscription is now available for users.

Presented by Udeonx, Extnt is a new maze game app set to disrupt the current status quo in the niche and redefine the puzzle genre. Game play will challenge the player with procedurally generated mazes, provide a unique point allocation system, and engage the user in a sophisticated playing experience.

A minimalist feel with complex game play is what the team is striving to bring to the market in terms of user value. The technology of the game is quite sophisticated and dynamic, with unique ambiance and supportive music themes. Overall, what the team aims to bring to the user is an interface that will generate feelings of appreciation for complexity and sophistication.

User achievement is another design focus. Users will be able to accumulate points that will be placed on a two-tiered ranking scale. These ranking scales enable achievement at a per level and holistic game perspective. The unique point system challenges players to showcase his or her superiority, "Be the best. Beat the best."

With advanced user controls, unique puzzle generation, and a differentiated level-based ranking system, these features along with exceptional user design help to make Extnt an innovative and enjoyable game for maze lovers of all ages. The game will be released soon to
